Stennis project behind schedule

BY ED LEPOMA
Staff Writer

A Gulfport firm in charge of a $378,465 project at Stennis International Airport is at least 26 days behind schedule, and consultants have raised concerns.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission awarded the contract to Fore Construction, Inc., of Gulfport to rehabilitate the north apron of the runway.

Plans call for an asphalt overlay that will enable the apron to handle heavy cargo planes. A connecting taxiway will also be extended by about 4,000 feet.

On Oct. 5, the Airport Development Group, a Denver-based firm which serves as consultants to Stennis Airport, served official notice to Fore President Pat Fore.

Principal engineer Chuck

Kellerman wrote: "We are concerned about the lack of progress you have made toward completion of this project. To date, the contract time has been exceeded by 26 working days. Although weather conditions have not been ideal, no progress was made in several intervals when conditions permitted resumption of the work. We

Security concerns at port, airport

'Unidentified' aircraft turned out to be harmless

Security is heightened at Hancock County's Port Bienville Industrial Park and Stennis International Airport, but commissioners are leaning to placing more restrictions at the park.

Commissioner Robert Kane brought up the security issue at the board's monthly meeting Monday after hearing reports from two managers.

Greg Deakle, operations director, told Commissioners, "Since the U.S. has begun retaliatory efforts against the acts committed Sept. 11th, there has been a higher state of alert issued all across the nation. This includes us here."

And, Airport Manager Bill Cotter reported an incident Monday that brought an FBI agent out to Stennis Airport.

Cotter told Commissioners when he arrived at the airport between 8:30 and 9 a.m. Monday, he was concerned about a Piper Navajo twin-engine plane parked on the tarmac.

"The plane had some kind of equipment mounted underneath the likes of which I had

Two juveniles cut loose from their monitoring devices and were among a group of four youths who recently vandalized areas of Shoreline Park.

Danny White, the owner of D&D Road Runners, a towing and vehicle repair firm operating off state Hwy. 603 and Avenue B, called the office Monday following a story that appeared in the Echo on Sunday.

The article detailed how Hancock County supervisors have turned to a local firm to

Stennis presents 2001 NASA Honor Awards

John C. Stennis Space Center presented its prestigious NASA Honor Awards Sept. 28 in ceremonies in the StennisSphere auditorium.

The NASA Honor Awards are the highest form of recognition that the Agency bestows to employees, contractors and members of the community.

Included in this year's awards were NASA's Boyce Mix of Slidell, who received both the Rank of Meritorious Executive Award and the J. Harry Guin Outstanding Leadership Award; Dorsie Jones, also of Slidell, who received NASA's Exceptional Service Medal; and Cynthia Epperson of Long Beach, Bartt Hebert of Walker, La., and Douglas McLaughlin of Pass Christian, who each received an Exceptional Achievement Award.

NASA's Honor Awards are presented to a number of carefully selected individuals and groups, both government and non-government, who make outstanding contributions to the NASA mission.

In his address, Stennis Space Center Acting Director Mark Craig said, "Today, we honor our amazing team of people, who in doing their jobs everyday, continue to reinvent government."

NASA's Roy Estess, acting director, Johnson Space Center, Houston, presented the awards and praised the award recipients for their contributions to Stennis' outstanding reputation throughout the Agency. "Business-wise, Stennis Space Center is where the Agency wants to go," he said.

Other awards recipients, grouped by company and residence, include:

expect you to make steady progress towards completion of the project as weather permits." He warned, "You are subject to liquidated damages for all time in excess of the contract time."

Kellerman also said Fore's relationship with the resident engineer on site, Compton Engineering, "has been spotty."

He asked Fore to coordinate any work startup or stoppage with the resident engineer, and to prepare a schedule for completion of the project and send it to him by Oct. 11.

Geoff Clemens, with Compton Engineering, said a crew from Fore Construction was out at Stennis Wednesday, and work has resumed.

Airport Manager Bill Cotter reported the delay Monday to commissioners gathered for the monthly Port and Harbor Commission meeting.

Commission attorney Robert Genin said the board took no official action to begin assessing liquidated damages, but still has not ruled out the possibility. With a contract as large as this, damages in the thousands of dollars could be assessed against Fore for every day of delay.

Operations Director Greg Deakle said that Fore previously was awarded another large contract for taxiway extensions at the airport.

"And, it came in on time and within budget," Deakle said.

Bay St. Louis residents worry about noise, grass

BY BENNIE SHALBETTER
Staff Writer

The City of Bay St. Louis will be concentrating more police officers around the Sycamore Street and Watts St. area, Mayor Eddie Favre said at last week's council meeting. Residents have been complaining of cars driving around the area and loitering in the area day and night, with car stereos blasting at an annoying level.

Residents are also concerned about the type of language being used by loiterers, Favre said. Their main concern is the effect on children coming to and from school or playing in the area, he said. It is very hard to catch the alleged offenders, he said, because by the time an officer arrives on the scene, the music will be turned down or the car has driven away. Favre said he hopes that a higher concentration of officers in the area will alleviate the problem.

In other business: Myrtle Laneaux appeared before the council to seek help for the flooding problem at her residence in the Citizen St. and Ballentine St. area. Laneaux said that after the big flood in June, the grass had grown so high around drainage pipes that they did not work properly. Laneaux said that she had spoken to Councilman Doug Seal and he had told her that he saw no need of repairs in the area.

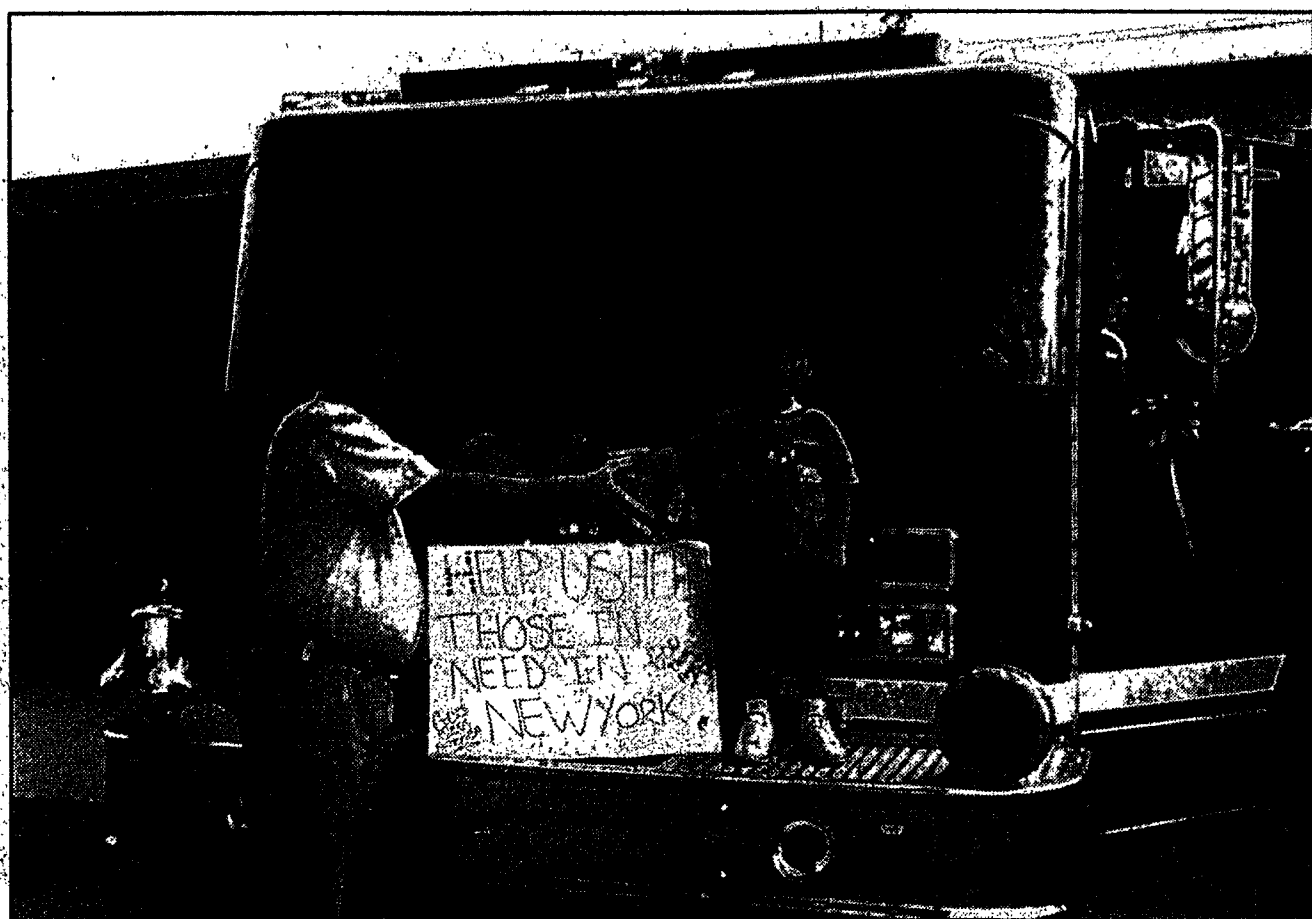

"That is because you do not live there and never lived there," said Laneaux.

Laneaux said that the drainage pipes were clogged with trash and grass. Someone did come out and use a weed eater on an area by the railroad, Laneaux said, but that grass between the two streets is up to the stop sign.

Favre agreed that something must be done in the area, but said that this was a lean budget year and the needed equipment had not been budgeted.

"Do you ever include any new equipment in the budget," said Laneaux. "Not this year," said Favre. "What are you going to do about the problem," asked Laneaux. Favre said he would issue a work order on Wednesday to clean up the area and check on possible culvert changes to be done "in-house."

"All major projects are on hold," he said.

Fire Chief Bobby Gavagnie thanks young donor Austin Creacy for his hard-earned donation to help New Yorkers.

The almost final amount is in!

"Just when we thought the final amount of donations was added up, the check written, and we are taking our photos of volunteers to send to NYC, generous citizens of Bay St. Louis stopped at the walking track to make more donations, and we are most grateful. We can write more checks," said Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre.

Bay St. Louis firemen, joined by police, public works and administration employees and the energetic employees of Casino Magic, who shared the passion to help, staged a 15-hour "bucket brigade" at the Highway 90/Main Street intersection and collected more than $40,000 from citizens and visitors who wanted to help the victims of the World Trade Center tragedy.

Through Monday additional donations boosted the amount collected an additional $3,442. Firemen will continue to collect through Oct. 12 at the Old Spanish Trail station.

Monday afternoon 4-year-old pre-school student Austin Creacy visited firemen to deliver the $74.85 he collected at the intersection of Hancock Drive and Desoto Street in Bayside Park. Austin, the son of Brandy Creacy, is a student at Central Christian Academy. He made his own sign and small ribbons to give the donors in appreciation for their help.

"Generosity, caring and ingenuity like Austin's is why ter-rism is the wrong tactic to use on America," said Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie.

Monies collected will be sent to the New York Fire and Police 911 Relief Fund.

"This fund was recommended by the Mississippi State Fire Academy because it will distribute our donations directly to emergency personnel and families most in need of assistance without administrative fees deductions. The Academy reviewed all donation sites to insure that monies raised throughout the state would not be misdirected to any selfish, scam group," said Assistant Chief Gary Maurice, event coordinator with Captain Pam San Filippo.

Security

not seen before," Cotter said. None of the plane's crew were at the airport, Cotter said, so he called the Gulfport office of the FBI.

Cotter later said that one agent was dispatched to Stennis to check the plane out, and determined the equipment actually was a sensing device which tests salinity in the water when the plane flies over an area.

The FBI agent determined the plane was owned by a firm out of Virginia, and it was surveying for the state Department of Marine Resources and USM's Marine Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs. The aircraft was still operating out of Stennis as of Wednesday, Cotter said.

He said the airport continues to operate under heightened security "at level 3, with level 4 the highest security."

Deakle, who oversees the operation of the Port Bienville Railroad, said, "The nation's railroads, have initiated Red Alert Actions."

He explained there is no published protocol on how to deal with individual security at industrial parks, "just common sense practices."

Deakle said, "We and other railroads are taking steps to protect shipments of hazardous material to include poison gases, compressed gas, munitions and other commodities that could pose a threat to citizens."

He said the railroad crew has been instructed "to keep all hazardous material cars in the respective plants or at locations inside the park not easily accessible and at locations not close to major operations, such as tail tracks, and to try and insure that any cars move from the interchange in a timely manner."

In addition, Deakle reported four firefighters, including two employees of the private line railroad, attended last week's seminar at USM, Gulf Park, which instructed "first responders" on how to deal with a train derailment or a release of hazardous materials that could be an accident or an act of terrorism.

"As far as we can tell, our people were the only ones in Hancock County to attend," said Deakle.

Kane asked Deakle if identity checks are being made on all persons entering Port Bienville at the main North gate or at the South Gate.

Steve Landry, facilities manager, said the South gate was closed during the Sept. 11 emergency, and stricter identification procedures were put in place at the north gate.

He said 99.5 percent of those who work at various industries within the park have stickers on their vehicles or identification verifying where they are employed.

Vendors, such as truckers who are bringing in various materials, also have identification and state to security guards where they might be going, he said.

Kane said he was concerned mostly about fishermen who come into the port day and night on a daily basis and use the public boat launch. It is located about a quarter mile west of the port's shipping terminal.

Commission President Dave McDonald said he has tried for years to close the public boat launch, but the Board of Supervisors oppose the move, although their are boat launches conveniently located on the Pearl River.

Commission attorney Robert Genin said an opinion from the state attorney general seems to indicate the Commission has authority over port facilities, not the Board of Supervisors.

McDonald said he was also opposed to allowing hunters to come into Port Bienville.

"We've had numerous instances where bullets have pinged into buildings," he said. McDonald said the hunting is now limited to a specific area, away from major industries.

There was also concern about visitors going to the newly opened Hancock Medical Center at Port Bienville.

Besides personnel on site, the center is also serving residents from the Lakeshore, Ansley and Pearlinton communities.

Most visitors to the clinic tell the guard at the gate where they are going, but Commissioners said, "There's no control (of them) once they are on site."

McDonald said security at Port Bienville needs to be handled in the same strict manner now in effect at the Stennis Space Center, but Commissioner Kevin Hill said the issue needs further study since it might require the hiring of additional personnel.

Deakle and Landry reminded Commissioners of plans to install a pre-fabricated guard house at the main entrance gate.

Commissioners agreed to refer the security issue to the Infrastructure Committee, which would develop new rules and procedures to go into effect when the new guard house is in place.

They also plan to inform supervisors of their concerns about continued use of the park by hunters and fishermen.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

All indications are that the 2001 Cruisin' the Coast was very successful.

For sure there was no lack of classic vehicles cruising through Bay St. Louis on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

I also feel Bay St. Louis' Parks & Beautification Director Jimmy Loiacano and his entire crew did a fantastic job in preparing the city for the Cruisin' event. They worked right through the big celebration, which brought thousands to our city, and kept it clean and beautiful.

Hats off to Jimmy and his crew.

In conversations with out-towners, most say they really appreciate the reception they receive in Bay St. Louis, and it is their favorite stop.

This is all made possible by Mayor Eddie Favre, council members, city administrators and workers, Bay-Waveland Police, Hancock Sheriff's deputies, Bay Fire Department, auxiliary officers, tourism officials and volunteers, auto club volunteers, merchants, in addition to our residents. It is always very good to receive compliments from visitors who say they like the good way they are treated.

By the way, I really think the new location of the bandstand on the courthouse grounds is a very good idea. It gives more folks an opportunity to view and listen to the live entertainment and brings the county into the loop at the same time.

Many told me over the three days that they like the new location of the bandstand.

Most are already looking forward to next year's Cruisin' the Coast.

High school football action continues Friday night with Hancock playing host of Meridian, Bay High visiting Gautier, St. Stanislaus hosting D'Iberville, and Pass Christian traveling to East Central.

Bay High is one point away from a perfect season after winning their fifth game of the year edging Forrest County last week 17-14.

Hancock lost a heartbreaker last week being stopped by Wayne County 13-12. St.

Stanislaus ran into a buzz saw last week when they lost to Gautier 54-14. Pass Christian won a great homecoming game by a 42-14 over Vancleave.

This week St. Stanislaus will celebrate homecoming, playing host to D'Iberville's Warriors. The Rocks need to play tough to keep up with the Warriors.

Bay High's Tigers will get a real test this week when the travel to powerful Gautier.

Hancock's Hawks will get a good test in District 5-A, when they host Meridian.

The Pass Christian Pirates will be traveling to East Central in a conference tilt Friday.

Remember, your local teams need your support in the stands on Friday night. Best of luck to the Tigers, Hawks, Rocks and Pirates.

Do not forget the annual March of Dimes WalkAmerica set for Saturday at Buccaneer State Park, Waveland.

Hancock County Tax Assessor/Collector Jimmie Ladner, Jr., is the honorary chairman and is hoping that there will be a large turnout of folks to help make the WalkAmerica benefit a success.

A little extra this year will be a special collection by the United Way of South Mississippi for those wishing to make a donation for the victims of the Sept. 11 terrorist attack and also a collection by the Food Pantry of non-perishable food items for those wishing to make a donation of food.

The Hancock County Food Pantry's shelves are bare due to increased demands, and a few cans of non-perishable food items from those wanting to give a little extra help will be greatly appreciated.

Registration for the WalkAmerica begins at 9 a.m. at Buccaneer State Park with the walk beginning at 10 a.m. to St. Clare Church and return to Buccaneer.

Some extras this year will include games and activities for children, like face painting, a space walk, and entertainment by local dance teams. Activities for adults will include an

Prison cell projections are shocking -- but true

Consider this: Two states 58, who made a fortune in the computer business (Netscape) in its best days and then sold at the right time, together with his wife, Sally, came back home three years ago determined to use a big hunk of their wealth for educational development where Mississippi's needs are greatest.

The result: Creation of the Barksdale Reading Institute, based on the University of Mississippi campus.

Brother Claiborne Barksdale, 51, gave up a fat-paying job in communications law to direct the project. Claiborne, whose career includes a one-year stint as an English teacher in a black-majority high school, is, according to Jim the "bright" one in the team.

When the Barksdale $100 million endowment was first announced in January, 2000, it made front page in the Wall Street Journal and the New York Times and landed Jim on the "Today" show. Now in its second year, the Barksdale Reading Institute is working with 74 public elementary schools around the state to implement the Mississippi Reading Reform Model developed by State Supt. of Education Richard Thompson and Ole Miss' Dr. Jim Chambliss.

More schools will be added to the Barksdale Reading Institute program each year over a four year plan as its initial goal. But there are even broader plans in the making says Claiborne Barksdale, who is gung-ho next to teach Mississippi children reading skills even before they enter kindergarten.

Thompson had sold Jim Barksdale on the reading model idea three years ago. Barksdale asked what the tab to do it would be. "About $100 million," Thompson declared. "We'll do it," Jim and Sally told the stunned state education super.

Recently speaking to a

Jackson audience, Jim Barksdale emphasized: "One thing I want people to know is: I didn't give $100 million to Ole Miss."

The Barksdale Reading Institute he said, may be based on the Ole Miss campus, "but all of the state's eight institutions of higher learning are involved in it."

Another misconception about the project, said Claiborne Barksdale is that it is primarily aimed at helping black youngsters. "Contrary to what a lot of Mississippians seem to believe," he said, "this is a socio-economic issue, not a racial issue."

Claiborne, who deals with the everyday workings of the program, said that nearly 80 percent of the students come from a one-parent family "but not nearly all of them are black...this transcends race."

Cruisin' makes us proud

To the Editor:

The citizens of Bay Saint Louis may well be proud of the city's participation in Cruisin' the Coast. I have attended festivals and presentations in cities around the world and never have I seen one better done than this one.

I spoke to dozens of visitors, and without exception they were thrilled with the reception they received from the city workers, the business owners and local citizens.

I saw Jimmy Loiacano meticulously removing debris from the streets, and Beth Carriere of the Hancock County Tourism Bureau was wonderfully disguised as a traffic director.

The police were polite and appeared to be in total control at all times. Visitors told me that the bathrooms in local restaurants were all clean and made available to them; and that they thought food and drink prices were very fair.

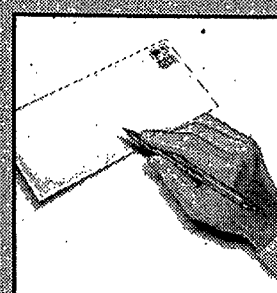

I am certainly proud of our home town. Thank you, Bay Saint Louis.

GENERAL

Q After a defendant's case has been bound over to action of the grand jury, who is responsible for the cost of laboratory testing of evidence?

A Article 14, Section 261 of the Mississippi Constitution of 1890 provides that the expenses of criminal prosecutions shall be borne by the county in which such prosecution shall be begun; and all fines and forfeitures, shall be paid into the treasury of such county.

Defendants, in cases of conviction, may be taxed with the costs. (Attorney General's opinion to Hunter dated May 31, 2001)

Q May a municipality purchase commodities under a county term contract bid without the necessity of additional bidding?

A No. There is no authority for a municipality to adopt a county's contracts. Purchases for commodities must be made in accordance with either Section 31-7-12(2) or 31-7-13.

However, a county and city may jointly advertise for the commodities in question; each governing authority would have to individually accept any bid. (Attorney General's opinion to Baker dated July 20, 2001)

Q May a public body use specifications from product literature to write specifications for bid requests?

A Yes, specifications from product literature may be used as a starting point for bidding. However, those specifications must be adapted to the particular needs of the agency and may not be used to comparable equipment of domestic manufacture. (Attorney General's opinion to Montague dated July 13, 2001) monitor juveniles placed under house arrest. It is an effort to cut costs of sending them to a Juvenile Detention facility in Forrest County, where detention can cost the county as much as $60-a-day for their room and board. Last year, the county spent in excess of $77,000 to send juveniles to the facility in Hattiesburg for stays that can range from one to several days.

As an alternative, supervisors, with the blessing of court officials, turned to a house arrest program in an effort to cut costs.

County records show 17 juveniles were enrolled in the program last year at a total cost of $1,908.

The Board contracted with the Alternative Servicing and Arrest Program (ASAP), a firm locally owned by Keith Switzer.

The program, which uses a monitoring device, is used on adults and juveniles nationwide.

White told the Echo he didn't have much faith in the monitoring device, which consists of a lightweight steel band placed around a detainee's leg. A person's goings are comings are monitored 24-hours-a-day from a control center through a connection made from the phone line in the home.

"It might sound like a good idea, but it doesn't work," said White. "The kids are smashing them or cutting them off."

White said, on Sept. 28, four youths vandalized his business. "They spray painted my place, one of my tow trucks, then went down nine blocks to spray paint my tow-truck driver's vehicle," said White.

"Then, they threw the paint can through my window, and busted it," White said graffiti was also scribbled on county signs along Avenue B.

White said Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to the scene and spent several hours staking out the neighborhood.

"They were assisted by the Mississippi Highway Patrol," he said.

White said he learned all four youths were apprehended, "after a big chase," and later he learned two of the four had cut through their monitoring devices.

Contacted at ASAP, Switzer defended the monitoring bands. "They're used all over the country," he said. "There's nothing on the market that's any better."

He admitted the devices could be cut, but said the control center is alerted immediately.

"We know within 15 to 30 minutes when a device is severed," said Switzer. "And, we notify the Sheriff's office immediately."

Because juveniles are involved, Switzer said he could not go into details of the vandalism alleged at D&D Road Runners, and the subsequent chase and apprehension of the

Sheriff's Department Capt. Kenny Hurt, who is in charge of investigating juvenile offenses in Hancock County, confirmed the vandalism at D&D, and was involved in the investigation.

Hurt said three of the youths were juveniles and the fourth was 18 years old. He said other businesses were also vandalized in a two-day spree Friday and Saturday.

Hurt said one benefit of the monitoring devices outweighs the fact that someone can get loose from it.

"This allows us to put a juvenile back home or in a situation where he has a better chance to rehabilitate himself rather than be sent to a facility where he can easily be influenced by more hardened juveniles," said Hurt.

"This (the house arrest program) gives them a second chance. Unfortunately, some choose not to take advantage of it," he said.

Eyes

starters - it's comprehending the meaning from what is read."

You can be able to decode words, he says, "and still be functionally illiterate if you cannot comprehend the text."

By the time a youngster unable to read and comprehend reaches the 9th grade, he is a prime prospect to be a drop-out, thereby becoming a problem for the general society.

That's why Arizona and California have already begun targeting future candidates for prison cells, says Claiborne. "You can only imagine how big of a problem Mississippi has, since our reading level is even lower than theirs. That's why we've got to teach our children how to read, or they're out of luck."

Claiborne's right hand man at the Barksdale Reading Institute is former State Supt. of Education Dick Boyd, 74, the ex-Oleian who had chosen to "retire" in Oxford, MS until he was drafted into the project.

Now Dr. Boyd, still beloved by many school teachers throughout Mississippi, is out recruiting the most talented reading teachers to work full time in the project. He also oversees how well the state reading reform model is being implemented in classrooms.

Full salaries of 11 education faculty members at the state's eight universities are paid by the Barksdale Institute to go out and train a cadre of reading teachers within the region around each of the institutions.

Then there are 14 institute-paid reading specialists - all successful elementary classroom teachers - who work from their homes, each spending one day a week in four different schools. And, importantly, training of teachers in the program doesn't stop during the summer months.

Duncan announces candidacy for Constable

Scott T. Duncan

Scott T. Duncan, of Diamondhead and former resident of Bay St. Louis for 20 years, has announced his candidacy for Constable East in the November 6, 2001 special election.

Duncan, 40, is a U.S. Marine Corps veteran and graduate of Port Huron, Mich., High School.

He is a lifetime member of the DAV, a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church and is married to Lea Lamb Duncan of Lucedale. He is the son of Collette Ladner and his late stepfather, Lamar A. Ladner.

In making his announcement Duncan said, "As a candidate for Constable East in the last election, I met so many nice people. I promise to patrol around all schools in my district to keep our children of Hancock County safe and secure and carry out the other duties of constable."

He continued, "As a former military police officer in the Marine Corps, I feel qualified for this job and will do it with pride for the citizens of Hancock County."

Laurent benefit account set at Hancock Bank

A benefit account for Leo and Marion Laurent, whose home was completely destroyed by fire on the night of Sept. 30 in Waveland, has been established at Hancock Bank.

Linda Cospelich, a friend of the family who started the benefit fund, said the couple did not have any insurance on their home, and they are now residing within temporary quarters.

The Laurents have been very much involved with fund raisers such as the 'Jail & Bail' for the Waveland Little League program for many years.

Those wishing to make a contribution to the family can do so at any Hancock Bank to the Laurent Family Account # 012612976, Cospelich said.

Bay-W'land Garden Club meeting news

The Bay Waveland Garden Club participated in its annual fall trip by attending the Garden Club Appreciation Day, sponsored by the Crosby Arboretum Oct. 3.

Speakers included Felder Rushing of Jackson lecturing on "Gardening in the Deep South," Keith Buckley of Covington on "Floral Designs with Native Plants," Marc Pastorek of Carriere on "Plant Propagation Methods," Marian Finner on "Free Form Ikebana," and Dr. Bill Wolvert of Picayune on "Growing Clean Water."

The group also enjoyed tours of the site and displays of antique roses, daylilies, native plants, herbs, books and floral designs by Louisiana and Mississippi Flower Show judges.

On the following day, at the fall district meeting in Ocean Springs, the club was awarded an honor roll certificate for its work in the past year by District Director Mary DeMarsh of Picayune.

Several members are making plans to attend the 46th annual Mississippi Landscape Design

Skateboard park planned in Waveland

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Kelly and Tami Welsh were finally able to hold an official groundbreaking for their long-awaited project, a new skateboard and mountain bike park to be located in Waveland.

Another groundbreaking took place for the park more than a year ago, but the couple encountered problems readying the property for the project. The $1 million complex will be built on a three-acre site off Hwy. 90 and Waveland Ave. behind DaddyO's Cafe and Grill.

The park will feature an indoor skateboard park and an outdoor mountain bike trail. The couple said they plan to hold professional skateboard contests and even hope to interest Xtreme Sports Tours, a group of professional skateboarders and mountain bikers, which often has events televised on ESPN. The Welsh's hope to open the skateboard park and a retail store by early next year and the mountain bike trail by next summer, Tami Welsh said.

The Welsh's are the owners of South Coast Xtreme Sports in Bay St. Louis, which will be replaced by the new business in Stennis Space Center celebrates 40th anniversary

On Oct. 25, 1961, NASA announced it was going to build a national rocket test center in the moss-draped landscape of Hancock County to static test fire rockets bound for the Moon.

That announcement made 40 years ago established the beginning of the construction of a unique, futuristic rocket test facility that is today known as John C. Stennis Space Center.

The project, placed under the auspices of NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., was headed by famed German rocket scientist Dr. Wernher von Braun.

"This will be the largest test facility anywhere," said von Braun. "Where we are standing, there will rise a great complex of buildings, testing operations ... to provide sufficient expansion to meet future needs."

When NASA announced that it would build the test facility, John C. Stennis, the late senator and distinguished Mississippi statesman, was called on to explain the reasons for the massive undertaking to the more than 2,000 families who would be asked to give up their homes for the project.

In a historic 1961 speech at Logtown, Miss., Sen. Stennis expressed the over-riding national need. "There is always the thorn before the rose ... you have got to make some sacrifices, but you will be taking part in greatness," Sen. Stennis said.

The sacrifice of those families provided the 13,500-acre test facility with a natural sound-buffer zone of more than 125,000 acres, making it a national asset.

Today, 40 years after the announcement to build the facility, Stennis Space Center, NASA's lead center for rocket propulsion testing, continues to serve as the place where various space-bound rocket engines breathe their first fiery breath.

The unique test stands at Stennis not only serve the needs of NASA, but also pave the way to space for some Department of Defense as well as commercial customers. In recent years, commercial rocket firms have invested more than $40 million in facilities at Stennis.

In addition to its growing importance and reputation as a world-class rocket propulsion test center, Stennis also serves as NASA's lead center for Earth Science Applications.

Capitalizing on years of experience in remote sensing applications research and development, Stennis personnel work with industry partners to develop uses for remote sensing technology to increase U.S. economic competitiveness.

Stennis Space Center is also known for "reinventing government" with more than 4,500 employees representing more than 30 federal, state and university agencies working side-by-side in some of the world's most sophisticated laboratories. Personnel at Stennis work in vocations ranging from the outermost limits of space to the depths of the world's oceans. Stennis Space Center contributes more than $800 million annually as it relates to the personal income of the people in surrounding communities, translating to more than 24,000 jobs.

Stennis Space Center continues to feel the positive results from increased construction, expansion and collaboration. Some recent examples of the growth at Stennis includes the Boeing Company's $1.1 million RS-68 Engine Assembly Facility and a new high-tech aerospace park being constructed by the state of Mississippi. The first major occupant of the aerospace park will be Lockheed Martin Corporation's Advanced Propulsion Thermal and Metrology Center.

Within months after reopening the redesigned visitor center in the spring of 2000, its overwhelming popularity soon earned Stennis the title of Mississippi Travel Attraction of the Year 2000 by the Mississippi Tourism Association. During its first year of operation, more than 225,000 visitors from around the world were educated and entertained with the 14,000 square feet of interactive displays and exhibits.

Get ready for Second Saturday Artwalk 2001 in Bay St. Louis

Stroll the streets of "Olde Town" Bay St. Louis this Saturday, visit the galleries, dine on delicious food and linger in the shops as the downtown merchants celebrate their October Artwalk.

Most galleries and shops are open from 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., but from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. there will be live music and refreshments, and the galleries will have receptions for their artists.

"HOT SPOTS"
WEISNER & HASSINGER'S GALLERY, 128 Main St., 228-467-9966

Featured artist will be Steve Widdicombe, talented wood-carver from Metairie. In addition to Widdicombe's work this gallery also shows Paul O'Donnell's ceramics, including his fish and turtles. His work is shown only at this gallery. There will also be pottery, paintings, hand-blown glass and sculpture offered by Weisner and Hassinger's.

LIVE OAK INTERIORS, 207 Main St., 228-463-1531

You are invited to come by and meet Stephen Rogers. He is available to assist you when you need an interior decorator. Refreshments will be served from 5 to 8 p.m.

FASHION EXPRESS, 100

N. Beach Blvd., 228-467-2007
Fashion Express Jewelry and Gifts will present a "Trunk Show" of beaded jewelry designed by Morgan Smith of New Orleans.

Jean Ann Thrifflery, owner of Fashion Express, says, "Many of my clientele visit the shop seeking her collection to complement their wardrobes."

Smith's work is a unique combination of beautiful objects arranged in an artful and tasteful design to flatter the feminine perspective. While taking a metal working class in the mid-1980s, she discovered her passion for creating objects in silver, gold and other metals. Smith's jewelry has Victorian and Edwardian flair.

She has now cultivated an international clientele for her unique collection.

Her designs her jewelry with Austrian crystal, semi-precious stones and vintage antique objects.

Smith said she looks forward to presenting her fall and holiday collection in Bay St. Louis and will be on hand to greet our many guests.

PEOPLES BANK
Peoples Bank will sponsor the band, "KILBRANNON SOUND" in the 100 block of Main St.

Serenity Gallery features 'Survival' for Artwalk

Serenity Gallery of Bay St. Louis will feature the show "Survival" for the Second Saturday opening on Saturday, Oct. 13.

Husband-wife duo, Michael Gutzwiller and E. A. Warson ("Liz"), from Fort Collins, Colorado, will exhibit their collaborative artwork for the first time on the Gulf Coast.

Both artists have exhibited nationally and internationally in juried solo and group shows, but this will be only the third time that they have teamed up together.

Gutzwiller, a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, received his bachelor of fine arts in sculpture in 1983 from the Cleveland Institute of Art in Ohio.

A versatile sculptor, his work ranges in scale and materials, including steel, stainless steel, aluminum, and bronze. His compositions "create a visual language with the ability to create content... my work remains accessible because we all share a common existence."

Warson, a native of Tennessee, received her bachelor of fine arts in fiber in 1989 from the Cleveland Institute of Art. She holds a master's degree in art therapy from Vermont

College of Norwich University in Montpelier, Vt., and is presently working on a doctorate at Colorado State University.

Her work, mainly in wall relief, "focuses on the Native American culture, long considered primitive... and in this tradition defines itself by the use of natural materials and a symbolic approach to color and surface design."

Gutzwiller's most recent juried exhibitions include: Pier Walk in Chicago (the world's largest international sculpture show); the 1st Alabama Biennial, University of Alabama; 1st Biennial of Sculpture: Arte y Naturaleza, Rinconde Adamez, Valencia Spain; 2001 Chair Show, Folk Art Center, Asheville, N.C.; Sculpture in the Park, Loveland, Colo. and Tom McCormick Works of Art, Chicago.

Invitational shows during this year include: 30th Anniversary Outdoor Sculpture Show and 1st Annual Furniture Exhibit, Shidoni Arts in Santa Fe, and Collection IV, Mary O'Shaughnessy's Wood Street Gallery in Chicago.

Most recently, she exhibited in the juried show "Beyond the Surface" at Woman Made Gallery in Chicago, and a solo exhibit, "Our Survival: Reflections on the Life Cycle," Bas Bleu Gallery in Fort Collins, Colo.

Her work has been shown at the Cleveland Center for Contemporary Art, Case Western Reserve Mather Gallery, the McDonough Museum of Art, and Oberlin College's Allen Memorial Art Museum, in addition to galleries in Chicago, New York, Alaska, and Wisconsin.

Warson's emphasis has been on her serial work entitled "Reflections on the Life Cycle," a concept "involving a conscious progression of images... representing the cycles of life and death and our need to be spiritually connected to the life force... a relationship critical to our survival."

This show, entitled "Survival," takes on an almost surreal effect in today's world. The title chosen by the artists months ago, represents "a cyclic notion of being," a continuation of the aforementioned serial work.

Gallery owner Jerry Dixon brings this show to Serenity Gallery. He has previously shown Liz's work of pastel paintings. The opening reception to meet the artists will be 5-8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 13.

Tomson featured at The Loft

Bob Tomson will be the featured artist at The Loft Studios for the Second Saturday Art Walk in Bay St. Louis on Saturday, Oct. 13.

The extensive exhibit, entitled "The Heart of Mississippi" is comprised of new works of metal that he created in his studio at the Artists' Co-op, a working space for several area artists that is located near Bay St. Louis' revitalized train depot.

A self-taught artist, Tomson's artistic creations reflect his profound love of nature. Tomson excels in recreating native Mississippi plants from copper and brass. His morning glories, cat tails, lotus, pickerel rush and golden club - to name a few - are lovingly and accurately fashioned by Tomson into floral arrangements or water fountains that look as if they sprung from the earth itself.

His most ambitious project to date, completed just a year ago, is a huge copper and brass recreation of a Mississippi nature scene, complete with cypress, gum and live oak trees and a tri-tiered fountain surrounded by native flowers and plants.

Commissioned by the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks to create a signature piece for its new building in Jackson, Tomson started "with nothing but a big gaping hole in a big building that itself was still under construction."

"I approached this as a relatively simple project," Tomson says with a twinkle in his eye. "Just reproduce the heart and soul of wild Mississippi's 47,000 square miles into 275 square feet of artwork."

An artist with a flair for mathematics, Tomson knows exactly the physical effort involved in his work. The metal cypress tree that forms a part of the work stands 19 feet tall, weighs 60 pounds and comprises 557 separate pieces.

Besides all that, "it took over 400,000 hammer blows just to make the cypress tree," Tomson recounts dryly.

A visit to Tomson's studio tells much about the artist himself. "Ideas are never a problem," he says. "I can always imagine something to make."

Time for autumn flowers

THE PACE FILES
BY STAN PACE
County Extension Agent

Although it seems summer will never end, fall is right around the corner, and now is a good time to think about fall flowers. A late planting of summer annuals such as marigolds, zinnias, periwinkles, and coleus will provide some great fall color that may last up through November depending on when we have our first frost.

Since temperatures are still very hot, be sure to water the plants very well for the first couple of weeks to help them adjust to transplanting and the heat. In addition to putting out summer annuals, now is the time to start seeds of hardy fall/winter annuals and perennials such as pansy, daisy, rudbeckia, dianthus, foxglove and purple coneflower.

Hanging baskets and container gardens are beautiful additions to any garden, however they are more susceptible to the heat and drying out than our in-ground gardens.

Hanging baskets and container gardens dry out faster during hot months. Porous containers such as clay and wood dry out faster than plastic or glazed pots.

Metal containers often retain the day's heat and thus dry out fast. Smaller containers/baskets will dry out faster than large container and containers/baskets with large plants will dry out faster than containers/baskets with small plants.

The ideal container/basket should have 1-3 inches of space between the top of the container and the top of the soil. This space holds the water while it drains into the soil. Containers or baskets without this space are likely to overflow when watering. Water plants thoroughly allowing water to run out the drain holes. Symptoms that plants are in need of watering: wilting (although many herbaceous plants wilt during the hottest part of the day - this keeps the plant from losing water - if they stay wilted after the hottest part of the day, they need water), brown leaf tips/margins, loss of color between the veins of the leaves and poor growth.

Homecoming events

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

St. Stanislaus College is celebrating Homecoming 2001 with a week-long celebration, October 8-13, 2001, according to Brother Ronald Hingle, SC, Principal.

Students, faculty, staff and alumni are participating in special activities including a door decoration contest, a 70s dress-up day, a black-and-red day, a 'Find the Rock-a-Chaw' competition.

All activities lead to the 7:30 p.m. football game on Friday night, when the Rock-a-Chaw football team meets the D'Iberville Warriors in the Brother Philip Memorial Stadium. All are invited to a Tailgate Party on the SSC Baseball Field beginning at 5:30 P.M. The cost is $10 per family and $5 per individual. The Homecoming Court will be formally presented at the game, and the queen will be announced during the half-time ceremonies.

The Homecoming Dance will be held on Saturday, October 13, at Hardy Hall Auditorium on the Gulf Park Campus of the University of Southern Mississippi, and is open to all St. Stanislaus high school students.

1991: Aldermen name Varnell as Waveland's chief of police

TEN YEARS AGO

October 3, 1991 - Coach J. Larry Ladner has been awarded the title of Assistant Professor Emeritus of Human Performance and Recreation by the State College Board. Ladner, retires this semester after a distinguished career of 20 years at the University of Southern Mississippi in the Department of Coaching and Sports Administration as the basketball specialist. A graduate of Kiln High School, Ladner's mother, Mrs. Earl E. Ladner, still resides in Kiln.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen approved the appointment of police department Chief Investigator James Varnell to the position of police chief effective January 1, 1992. The board was informed by Mayor Stella Frilot that Police Chief Donald Dorn notified her James Varnell, Police Chief of Waveland, Mississippi.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

October 1, 1981 - The annual Gumbo Festival, scheduled this Friday through Sunday at Necaise Crossing, is expected to draw even a larger crowd than last year, including gumbo gourmets from all parts of Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and even Texas.

A 150-year-old, 500-gallon iron pot mounted on a portable trailer over six butane burners highlight the gumbo cooking. Contents of the pot is expected to whet the appetites of 20,000 visitors.

The Bay St. Louis Council proposed spending all 1981-82 revenue sharing money for lighting city streets and garbage pickup at a public revenue sharing hearing Monday night. Of the $108,000 of the city's revenue sharing budget, the council proposed spending $34,800 for garbage pickup and $66,000 for street lighting.

The remaining $3,400 is to be used as cushion in case of an increase in electricity costs. City Clerk Eddie Favre informed board members that the mayor decided to shift programs formerly funded with revenue sharing money to the city's general budget fund.

FORTY YEARS AGO

October 5, 1961 - L.J. Breaux of Kiln was elected president of the Hancock County Farm Bureau at its annual meeting Tuesday night at Hancock North Central High School when Boswell Stevens, State Farm Bureau president, was the guest speaker.

Mervin Hebert was elected vice president and County Agent O.O. Swords, secretary-treasurer. Directors chosen were W.A. Gasper, C.P. Slay, Paul Bounds, all of Flat Top; Johnson Shaw, Paul Haniel and Tommy Shaw, all of Sellers; Larry Koenen of Dedeaux; James Rester of Leetown; Cornelius Favre of Kiln, and H.L. Turnipseed of Bay St. Louis, honorary membership.

On a motion by vice-president Powell Glass Jr., seconded by August Scafidi, the board of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, unanimously voted to request Bay St. Louis and Waveland to proceed with zoning and comprehensive community planning. President W. Ray Gordon brought up the question and included the county in his proposal.

SSC hosts Homecoming; Willis and Bolden earn honors

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Bay High and Pass High kept on rolling last Friday night on the high school gridiron. Hancock dropped a heartbreaker to the No. 7 ranked Wayne County while SSC was chomped by the Gators of Gautier.

The Bay High Tigers prevailed 17-14 against Forrest County AHS at Joe D. McCullough Stadium on Friday to run their record to 5-1.

Charles Hawkins scored the game-winning touchdown with 1:04 left to play after Seth Weigel set up the score when he recovered a fumble on the Forrest County 10 yardline. Hawkins' five-yard score gives him at least one score in each game this season.

Monroe Jordan gave Bay High the early lead with a three-yard run. The Aggies eventually went up 14-7 in the third quarter. Tim Wright booted a 37-yard fieldgoal to cut the lead to 14-10 before Hawkins' score. Wright also pinned the Aggies at their own 10-yardline with a 53-yard punt, helping to set up Weigel's recovery of the loose ball.

This week, the Tigers will travel east down the Coast to take on the Gautier Gators in Division 8 action. The Gators feature speed, speed, and more speed. Carrio Rudolph and Fred Millender are a devastating pass-catch duo who have hooked up six times this year for scores. RaShawn Harris and Kevin Dunning can run inside and outside from the tailback position. Last week the Gators defeated SSC 54-14. Harris rushed for 101 yards on eight carries while the Rudolph-Millender connection scored.

Bay High's offense will have a tough running game, as well. The Tigers feature a one-two-three knockout punch in Bay High's Charles Hawkins is the Sea Coast Echo Offensive Player of the Week for his outstanding performance Friday night against the Forrest County Aggies.

Monroe Jordan, Terrance Thomas and Charles Hawkins. Bay High has an effective leader in quarterback Adam Barrett, who can throw the knockout punch when needed.

Barrett also heads up a defense that has been swarming to the ball all season. The defensive front of Seth Weigel, Kenny Smith, Michael Simpkins, and Brent Pitre will play a major part in the momentum of the game. Look for a classic game of pounding the football in Gautier this Friday. The Pirates of Pass High made the Vancleave Bulldogs walk the plank in a 42-14 win at McDonald Field last Friday. The Pirates scored all their points in the first half.

Kalvin Woods passed for a touchdown and ran for another while Corey Brown led all rushers in the game with 108 yards on nine carries. Brown scored a rushing touchdown and returned a Bulldog punt for points. The win moves the Pirates to 5-1 overall and 3-0 in the Division 8 standings. This week, the Pirates travel to Hurley to take on the powerful running game of East Central. The Hornets feature two strong runners in Joe Taylor and Chris Lowery. However, both runners were held in check last week as the d'Iberville Warriors stung the Hornets 41-9 in Division 8 action.

The Pirate defense will be tested by the Hornets' running game, first and foremost. But, Shawn Raines can throw the deep ball for East Central when called to do so. This ought to be another classic battle in Division 8.

The Hancock Hawks fell one point short in their bid to upset the No. 7 ranked team in the state of Mississippi. The Wayne County War Eagles squeaked by the Hawks 13-12. The loss dropped the Hawks to 4-2 overall and 1-1 in Region 3-5A play.

Hawks head coach Rocky Gaudin called the game "a classic case of not taking advantage of our opportunities." The Hawks took a 12-0 lead in the first quarter. Charles Bolden returned a War Eagle fumble eight yards for a score. Later in the period, Jed Duke intercepted a War Eagle pass and returned it to the one yardline. Brandon Nicaise called his own number for the score.

In the second half, Chase Sackett intercepted a War Eagle pass but the Hawks could not capitalize. Later, a failed fourth down attempt gave the War Eagles life at their own 26 yardline.

This week, the Hawks will play host to Meridian in Kiln. Last week, Brandon barely squeaked by Meridian 16-14. Brandon is the state's top-ranked team. The game is shaping up to be a good contest between these two solid 5A programs. Look for some fireworks to go off in Kiln when these two schools lock horns.

SSC held Gautier scoreless and without a first down in the second half last Friday night at the Brother Philip Memorial Athletic Complex. However, it wasn't enough as the Gators scored 54 first-half points and defeated the Rocks 54-14 in Division 8 play.

The Gators' attack featured speed, speed, and more speed. The Rocks scored their touchdowns on a 17-yard reverse by Gabe Willis and a one-yard plunge by quarterback Jeremy Lewis. Willis had 171 total yards against the Gators.

This week, SSC will host the d'Iberville Warriors "between the walls" for the Rocks Homecoming. The Warriors feature a strong running combination in Clarence Cotton and Torey Staten. Staten is one of the state's most sought after running backs. Last season he set a state record when he rushed for 517 yards in a single game. The Rocks held him in check last year when he rushed for just 37 yards against SSC. This year, Staten has 910 yards after six games.

The Rocks will have their hands full on defense containing Staten.

The 2001 Homecoming Queen will be announced at half-time of the game.

The Offensive Player of the Week for Week #6 is Bay High's Charles Hawkins. He scored the game-winning goal against Forrest County on Friday with 1:04 left in the game, and had 62 total yards of rushing.

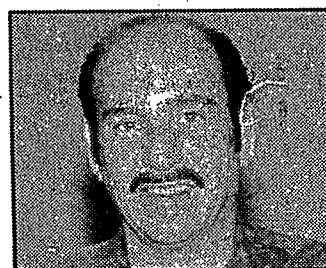

The Defensive Player of the Week for Week #6 is Hancock's Charles Bolden. Bolden returned a fumble eight yards for a score and added eight tackles on defense.

In other sporting news, the Mississippi Sea Wolves will start their sixth season in the Wolves Den on Friday with a game against the Baton Rouge Kingfish starting at 7:35 p.m. They will play another home game in Biloxi on Saturday, October 13th against the Jackson Bandits before hitting the road.

All football games are set for 7:30 p.m. See you at the game!

PRCC Wildcats claw Bears, win 29-7

Pearl River Community College got back on the winning track in grand fashion in Summit Saturday, dropping winless Southwest 29-8 for a key South Division victory and spoiling the Bears' 2001 Homecoming celebration.

The Wildcats improved to 4-1 overall and 2-1 in league play while Southwest dropped to 0-5 and 0-3.

Pearl River had fell from the ranks of unbeaten a week earlier with its 24-14 loss to now-nationally-ranked Jones.

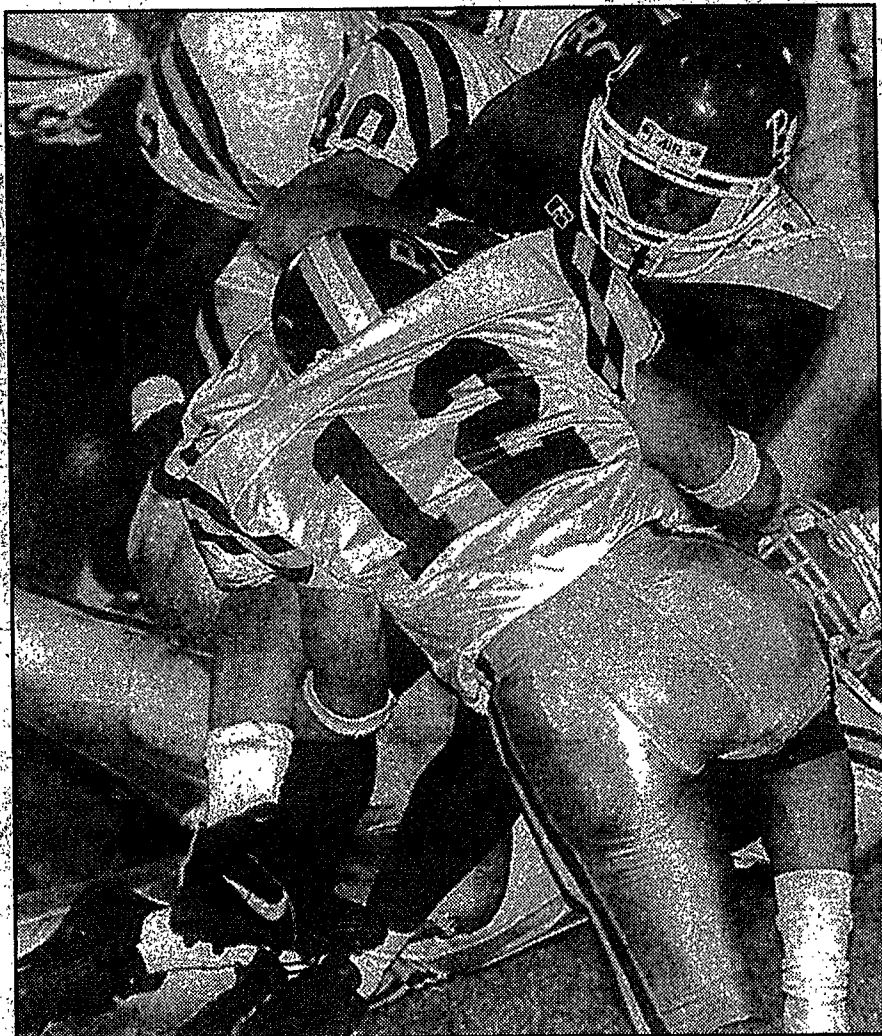

The Wildcats set the tone from the outset when Jaron Fountain returned the opening kickoff 98 yards for a score, marking the longest kickoff return in Wildcat history. Matt Hoda missed his extra point attempt, but PRCC led 6-0 after just 19 seconds of action.

Thirteen plays later, the Wildcat offense stalled at the Southwest eight and Hoda booted a 24-yard field goal with 6:44 left in the opening period to make it 9-0.

Two plays into the Bears ensuing drive, quarterback Steve Erdey fumbled and Hiram Eugene recovered for the Wildcats at the Bears' 19, but Southwest regained possession and ideal field position four plays later when Aaron Ready's 34-yard punt put them in business at the Wildcat 48.

In five plays, Southwest moved to the PRCC 18. Erdey was then dropped for a 16-yard loss, but the freshman bounced back with a 34-yard touchdown pass to Justin Simpson a play later. Brad Boyd missed the extra point, but the Bears had closed the gap to 9-6 with 2:55 left in the first.

Fountain returned the ensuing kickoff to the 30, then quarterback Charlie Reeve went to work. Two straight completions and a five-yard keeper put the Wildcats at the Southwest 44, then he tossed his 14th TD pass Pearl River Community College defensive back Jason Santiago (12) of St. Stanislaus puts the stop on Southwest wide receiver Barry Crockett in the Wildcats' 29-6 South Division victory over Southwest Saturday in Summit. Santiago, a freshman from Bay St. Louis, finished the game with four solo tackles and three assists. of the season when he hit Ike Chekwa with 1:10 left in the period. Hoda booted the PAT to make 16-6.

Two series later, PRCC drove 67 yards in nine plays to the Southwest 13. Reeve then hit Aaron Dunklin with a 10-yard completion, but the St. Stanislaus sophomore fumbled the ball into the end zone and O'Shek Weekley recovered it for the score with 7:53 left in the half. Hoda's conversion made it 23-6.

On Southwest's second possession of the second half, the Bears drove 81 yards in 15 plays to the Wildcat nine, but were held on downs on the first play of the final quarter. PRCC answered with a 16-play, 85-yard drive to Southwest six, but stalled and Hoda missed a 23-yard field goal try. Ready kept the drive alive on a fourth-and-11 at the Bears' 36 when the freshman faked his punt and passed to Eugene for a 17-yard completion and a first down.

Pearl River finished the night with 425 yards of total offense

(374 pass, 51 rush), while Reeve had another stellar night, completing 37 of 51 passes for 325 yards and a touchdown. Forrest connected on five of eight throws for 49 yards. Weekley had a record-setting performance, grabbing 11 passes (tied all-time record) for 97 yards, while Otho Graves hauled in nine for 77, Chekwa six for 71, and Dunklin three for 42.

Kris Cannon of St. Stanislaus led Wildcat rushers with 56 yards on a career-high 16 carries, while Southwest's Calvin Batiste led all runners in the contest with 81 yards on 17 carries. Pearl River had 26 first downs (15 in the first half) to Southwest's 10 (four in the first half), while the Wildcats were penalized 10 times for 60 yards to the Bears' five for 35.

DMR offers boat and water safety classes

The Department of Marine Resources' (DMR) Boat and Water Safety class schedule for October through December is now available. Classes are free and open to all ages.

In order to operate a motorboat or personal watercraft in Mississippi, those born after June 30, 1980, are required to successfully complete an approved boating safety course and to have a certificate of satisfactory completion in their possession while in operation of the motorboat.

In Mississippi, it is against the law for anyone 12 years old and under to operate a motorboat or personal watercraft unless they possess a certificate and are accompanied by a parent, guardian or other person who is at least 21 years of age.

In fiscal year 2001, 1,694 students enrolled in a DMR boat and water safety class and 1,187 students were certified.

The State Marine Patrol issued 485 boat and water safety citations in fiscal year 2001 - 127 of those (26%) were for insufficient PFDs - compared to 520 violations in fiscal year 2000. The DMR Boat and Water Safety Bureau was formed in March 2000.

Anyone riding or operating a personal watercraft in Mississippi waters must wear a U.S. Coast Guard approved type 1, 2, or 3 Personal Flotation Device. The DMR Marine Patrol-sponsored courses have been designed to effectively introduce topics such as boat registration, navigation rules, trailering, first aid response and weather watch into a comprehensive one-day class. The classes are taught locally with many convenient locations.

For more information, to register for classes or to bring a class into your school, call Lt. Frank Wescovich, Director, DMR Boat and Water Safety Bureau at (228) 435-1332 or (228) 432-2820.

Wildcats face 'must win' soccer situation

Pearl River Community College's Wildcats dropped a key South Division soccer battle to rival East Central 3-0 Wednesday and now face a "must win" situation Saturday against Jones in Poplarville to ice a post-season playoff berth.

Pearl River fell to 4-4-1 overall and 4-2 in league play with the loss, while the host Warriors improved to 2-3-1.

"If we win Saturday, we're in (the state tournament)," said PRCC head coach Adam Breerwood. "If we lose, we're still mathematically in the running, but will need help from the rest of the league."

Mississippi Gulf Coast leads the five-team men's South race with a 4-0-1 record, followed by Pearl River, Jones (3-3), East Central, and Copiah-Lincoln (0-5).

The Lady Wildcats picked up their first win of the season Oct. 3 with a 1-0 league victory over Co-Lin in Wesson and were to play non-division rival Hinds on the East Central campus Wednesday, but the officials for the game failed to show up.

PRCC's women are 1-5 overall and 1-3 in the league and have to win out to return to the post-season.

Besides the Jones' match-ups Saturday, Pearl River eyes a visit from Gulf Coast next Wednesday, then close out the regular season with a trip to Holmes-Goodman in Goodman.

Saturday is a big sports day at Pearl River with the baseball team hosting Jones and LSU-Eunice in baseball (9:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m., and 3:30 p.m. game times), while soccer action begins at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. The Wildcat football team ends the day by hosting Copiah-Lincoln at 7 p.m. in Dobie Holden Stadium.

Following Saturday's games, PRCC's soccer teams return to action against Gulf Coast Wednesday (1 p.m. women) and (3 p.m. men), then closes out the regular season with a road trip to Holmes-Goodman in Goodman Oct. 23.

The top two men's and women's finishers from the MACJC's North and South Divisions earn post-season berths. The women's 2001 State-Region XXIII Tournament and the men's State Tournament are set for Oct. 26-27 at a yet-to-be-decided North Division site.

RE: PETITION OF J. R. POUNDS, INC. FOR AUTHORITY TO DRILL AND COMPLETE ITS GAS UNIT 17-3 NO. 1 WELL AT A REGULAR LOCATION ON A 320-ACRE GAS DRILLING AND PRODUCTION UNIT AND TO FORCE INTEGRATE ALL INTERESTS IN SAID PROPOSED UNIT, WITH ALTERNATE RISK CHARGES, MARINER FIELD, HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI
PUBLIC NOTICE
TO ALL OWNERS AND PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBED LANDS SITUATED IN THE MARINER FIELD, HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, TO-WIT:

W 1/2 of Section 8, Township 8 South, Range 15 West, Hancock County, Mississippi.
Take notice that J. R. Pounds, Inc. has filed a Petition with the State Oil and Gas Board of Mississippi, under Docket No. 285-2001-857, requesting authority to drill and complete its Gas Unit 17-3 No. 1 Well, Mariner Field, Hancock County, Mississippi, at a regular location on a 320-acre gas drilling and production unit comprised of the hereinabove described lands. The proposed well is to be drilled to a depth of approximately 4,100 feet below the surface for the purpose of testing and producing the Miocene Reservoir and other pools of oil and gas which may be encountered. The proposed location of the Gas Unit 17-3 No. 1 Well on the hereinabove described 320-acre gas unit is as follows:

990.0 feet from the South line and 990.0 feet from the West line of Section 8, Township 8 South, Range 15 West, Hancock County, Mississippi.
Both the proposed 320-acre gas drilling and production unit and the well location on said unit are regular in all respects and fully comply with the spacing and other requirements of the Statewide Rules and Regulations. Said Petitioner also seeks to integrate all interests in the drilling rights and rights to share in production from said risk charges assessed to all non-consenting owners, or alternatively, for integration of all interest in said unit without alternate risk charges, in said drilling unit.

Said matter will be heard by the said Board commencing at 9:30 o'clock, A.M. on November 21, 2001, in the Hearing Room of the Mississippi State Oil and Gas Board located at 500 Greyhound Avenue, Suite E, Jackson, Mississippi, at which time and place you may appear and contest said matter. A copy of the Petition in said matter is on file in said office for your inspection.

If you intend to contest said Petitioner or request a continuance, you must notify the Mississippi State Oil and Gas Board and the Petitioner's representative of your intention in writing not later than 5:00 o'clock, P.M. on Tuesday, November 13, 2001 (seven (7) days prior to the date stated above for said hearing). Failure to so notify the Board and the Petitioner's representative will constitute a waiver of your right to contest or request a continuance.

The Board may adopt orders concerning the relief requested, and the Board will enter such judgment as may be appropriate in the evidence presented.
